UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
EASTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON

JODIANNE WAGNER,
Plaintiff,
v.
COUNTY OF SPOKANE, a public entity; DANIEL MOMAN, an individual; SAMUEL TURNER, an individual; MARK BENNER, an individual; ANDRIA
UNDERWOOD, an individual; and LAURA GARR, an individual also known as Laura Serghini, Defendants.

NO: 2:19-CV-40-RMP
ORDER GRANTING DEFENDANTS'
MOTIONS FOR SUMMARY
JUDGMENT

BEFORE THE COURT is Defendants Laura Garr and Andria Underwood's Motion for Summary Judgment, ECF No. 35, and Defendants County of Spokane, Daniel Moman, Samuel Turner, and Mark Benner's Motion for Summary Judgment, ECF No. 47. The Court has considered the motions, the record, and is fully informed.

ORDER GRANTING DEFENDANTS' MOTIONS FOR SUMMARY

STATEMENT OF FACTS

In early December 2015, the Wagner family dog, Ruger, attacked a child in the home. ECF Nos. 38-1 at 5–6; 42 at 2. This was the third time Ruger had attacked one of the Wagner children. ECF No. 38-1 at 5. Ruger previously had caused injury to a child when the children were home alone. Id. at 7.

Child Protective Services (CPS) Investigator Tracie Arnold was assigned to investigate the incident involving Ruger's attack on a child in December 2015. ECF No. 37 at 2. As part of her investigation, Ms. Arnold met with Plaintiff Ms. Jodianne Wagner (Loran) to discuss Ruger's remaining in their home. Id. At the conclusion of the meeting, Ms. Wagner agreed to place Ruger in an animal hospital and then re-home the dog. Id.; ECF No. 38-1 at 6. However, on December 21, 2015, Ms. Arnold received information that Ruger had returned to the Wagner home. ECF No. 37 at 2. Ms. Arnold was unable to confirm whether Ruger had in fact returned to the home. Id. On January 20, 2015, Ms. Arnold closed her investigation into the December 2015 incident with a "high" Structured Decision Making (SDM) risk score. ECF No. 37 at 3. An SDM risk assessment is a tool used to assess and promote the safety and well-being for children and other vulnerable individuals. Id.

On January 29, 2016, CPS received a referral from Debbie Wiechert, a social worker at Meadow Ridge Elementary School, alleging that Ruger had returned to the family home. ECF Nos. 40 at 2; 44 at 2. An intake report was generated based on the referral. ECF Nos. 40 at 2; 40-1. CPS Intake Supervisor Melissa Kehmeier

1 reviewed the intake and believed that due to the dog's history, the intake warranted
2 an emergent response and that the dog should be considered very dangerous. ECF 3 No. 40 at 2. CPS Supervisor Cameron Norton requested an emergent initial face-to-4 face ("IFF") interview. ECF Nos. 42 at 3; 42-1.

5 On January 29, 2016, around 7:00 p.m., CPS Social Workers Laura Garr and 6 Andria Underwood arrived at the Wagner home. ECF Nos. 39 at 2; 43 at 2. Ms.
7 Garr and Ms. Underwood waited approximately one hour for law enforcement to 8 arrive. ECF Nos. 39 at 3; 43 at 3. It is allegedly common practice to request law 9 enforcement assistance if there is concern for social worker safety or the safety of 10 children in the home. ECF Nos. 39 at 2; 43 at 2. Spokane County Sheriff's Deputy 11 Mark Benner and Deputy Sam Turner responded to the call. ECF Nos. 50 at 2, 7-8; 12 51 at 2. Deputy Daniel Moman responded as backup. ECF No. 52 at 2. After the 13 Deputies arrived around 8:00 p.m., the Social Workers and Sheriff's Deputies 14 (collectively the "individual Defendants") proceeded to the front door. ECF No. 39 15 at 2-3; 43 at 3.

16 The eldest Wagner child home at that time, M.E.W., opened the door. ECF 17 No. 417 at 3. Neither Ms. Wagner nor her husband was home at the time. ECF No.
18 38-1 at 3, 8. Ms. Wagner had left M.E.W. in charge of her younger siblings. ECF 19 Nos. 38-1 at 8; 38-2 at 3. M.E.W. was 14 years old at the time. ECF No. 2 at 8.

20 Ms. Garr and Ms. Underwood identified themselves to M.E.W. and indicated 21 that they were there to see the children and to ensure their safety. ECF Nos. 39 at 3;

1 43 at 3. M.E.W. brought the younger children to the doorway. ECF No. 38-2 at 5.
2 The individual Defendants eventually entered the home and Ms. Garr and Ms.
3 Underwood checked on the food supply and sleeping arrangements. ECF Nos. 38-2 4 at 5; 39 at 3; 43 at 3. This is allegedly standard practice whether or not these 5 deficiencies are identified in the intake which lead to an IFF visit. ECF Nos. 39 at 3; 6 43 at 3. M.E.W. showed Ms. Garr and Ms. Underwood the children's bedrooms in 7 addition to the food available in the home. ECF No. 38-2 at 8. After approximately 8 20–30 minutes at the Wagner residence, the individual Defendants left the home, 9 and no children were taken into state custody. ECF Nos. 38-2 at 8; 39 at 4; 43 at 3.

10 Ms. Wagner filed suit against the individual Defendants asserting claims 11 under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 for alleged violations of procedural due process, unlawful 12 seizure, invasion of privacy, and the interruption of familial association. ECF No. 2 13 at 20. Ms. Wagner also seeks to hold the County of Spokane liable under Monell v.
14 Dep't of Social Servs., 436 U.S. 658 (1978). ECF No. 2 at 26. Defendants move for 15 summary judgment on all claims. ECF Nos. 35; 47.

16 LEGAL STANDARD

17 A party is entitled to summary judgment when the “pleadings, depositions, 18 answer to interrogatories and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if 19 any, show that there is no genuine material issue of fact and that the moving party 20 is entitled to summary judgment as a matter of law.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(c). A fact 21 is material when it “is relevant to an element of a claim or defense and whose 1 existence might affect the outcome of the suit.” T.W. Elec.Serv., Inc. v. Pac. Elec.

2 Contractors Ass ’n, 809 F.2d 626 (9th Cir. 1987). “Where the record taken as a 3 whole could not lead a rational trier of fact to find for the nonmoving party, there is 4 no genuine issue for trial.” Matsushita Elec. Indus. Co., v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 5 U.S. 574, 587 (1986).

6 Once the moving party satisfies its burden by showing that it is entitled to 7 judgment as a matter of law, “its opponent must do more than show that there is 8 some metaphysical doubt as to material facts . . . the nonmoving party must come 9 forward with ‘specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial.’”

10 Matsushita Elec. Indus. Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 586-87 (1986)
11 (internal citations omitted). The mere existence of a scintilla of evidence in support 12 of the non-moving party’s motion position is not sufficient. Triton Energy Corp. v.
13 Swear D. Co., 68 F.3d 1216, 1221 (9th Cir. 1995).

14 DISCUSSION

15 Ms. Wagner brings her constitutional claims against Defendants through 42 16 U.S.C. § 1983. Relief under § 1983 requires a plaintiff to show “(1) a violation of 17 rights protected by the Constitution or created by federal statute, (2) proximately 18 caused (3) by the conduct of a ‘person’ (4) acting under the color of state law.”
19 Crumpton v. Gates, 947 F.2d 1418, 1420 (9th Cir. 1991). If the government official 20 did not violate the claimant’s rights under the Constitution or rights created by

1 federal statute, there is no relief available under § 1983. Nurre v. Whitehead, 580 2 F.3d 1087, 1092 (9th Cir. 2009).

3 The individual Defendants assert that they are entitled to qualified immunity 4 on all claims. ECF Nos. 35 at 7; 47 at 10. To determine the applicability of 5 qualified immunity, the court must decide (1) whether the defendant's conduct 6 violated a constitutional right; and (2) whether the identified constitutional right was 7 clearly established at the time of the alleged violation. Tuuamalemalo v. Greene, 8 946 F.3d 471, 476–77 (9th Cir. 2019). As part of the second inquiry, the court also 9 considers whether the defendant's interpretation of the law was reasonable at the 10 time, given the factual context. Kennedy v. City of Ridgefield, 439 F.3d 1055, 1061 11 (9th Cir. 2006).

12 The Court first turns to the shared inquiry under both § 1983 and qualified 13 immunity regarding the alleged violation of constitutional rights.

14 I. Violation of Constitutional Rights

15 A. Right to Familial Association

16 Ms. Wagner claims that the Defendants deprived her of the constitutionally 17 protected liberty interest in familial association under the First, Fourth, and 18 Fourteenth Amendments.

19 The First Amendment protects “family relationships, that presuppose ‘deep 20 attachments and commitments to the necessarily few other individuals with whom 21 one shares not only a special community of thoughts, experiences, and beliefs but

1 also distinctively personal aspects of one's life.'" Lee v. City of Los Angeles, 250
2 F.3d 668, 685 (9th Cir. 2001) (quoting Board of Dirs. of Rotary Int'l v. Rotary Club, 3 481 U.S. 537, 545 (1987)). Protecting family relations "from unwarranted state 4 interference" is necessary to safeguard the ability to define one's identity which is 5 central to the concept of liberty. Keates v. Koile, 883 F.3d 1228, 1236 (9th Cir.
6 2018) (citing Roberts v. United States Jaycees, 468 U.S. 609, 619, (1984)).

7 The Court evaluates "the claims of children who are taken into state custody 8 under the Fourth Amendment right to be free from unreasonable seizures rather 9 than the Fourteenth Amendment right to familial association." Keates, 883 F.3d at 10 1236. Thus, the Court will address separately the issues arising from the alleged 11 "seizure" of M.E.W. and search of the Wagner family home under the Fourth 12 Amendment infra.

13 The Fourteenth Amendment prohibits states from depriving "any person of 14 life, liberty, or property, without due process of law." U.S. CONST. amend. XIV § 1.
15 "[T]he interest of parents in the care, custody, and control of their children" has been 16 long recognized by the courts as a fundamental liberty interest. Troxel v. Granville, 17 530 U.S. 57, 65, (2000). The right to familial association has both a substantive and 18 a procedural component. Keates, 883 F.3d at 1236. "While the right is a 19 fundamental liberty interest . . . officials may interfere with the right if they 'provide 20 the parents with fundamentally fair procedures.'" Id. (quoting Santosky v. Kramer, 21 455 U.S. 745, 753–54 (1982)).

1 The Ninth Circuit has held that to assert a cognizable Fourteenth Amendment 2 claim “plaintiffs must establish that an actual loss of custody occurred; the mere 3 threat of separation or being subject to an investigation, without more, is 4 insufficient.” Dees v. County of San Diego, 960 F.3d 1145, 1152 (9th Cir. 2020)
5 (social worker did not violate mother’s Fourteenth Amendment familial association 6 right by interviewing daughter at school). “A cause of action does not lie where the 7 social worker is accused of seizing a child and the parent has not ‘actually lost’ 8 control over the child.” Id. at 1153 (quoting Capp v. County of San Diego, 940 F.3d 9 1046, 1060 (9th Cir. 2020) (finding no violation of the liberty interest in familial 10 relations where children were interviewed by social workers at school and father was 11 subject to an investigation)). In other words, an investigation of the parent or child 12 does not amount to deprivation of one’s liberty interest in familial association.

13 The courts have “woven these constitutional threads into a discrete 14 constitutional right in cases where state officials remove children from parents 15 without consent or due process.” Keates, 883 F.3d at 1236 (9th Cir. 2018). “In sum 16 . . . the rights of parents and children to familial association under the Fourteenth, 17 First, and Fourth Amendments are violated if a state official removes children from 18 their parents without their consent, and without a court order, unless information at 19 the time of the seizure, after reasonable investigation, establishes reasonable cause to 20 believe that the child is in imminent danger of serious bodily injury, and the scope,

1 degree, and duration of the intrusion are reasonably necessary to avert the specific 2 injury at issue.” Id. at 1237–38.

3 Here, the IFF visit conducted by the Social Workers and Sheriff’s Deputies 4 at the Wagner home did not amount to “unwarranted state interference” in 5 violation of the First Amendment. The IFF visit was the result of a referral by a 6 mandatory reporter alleging that a potentially dangerous dog had returned to the 7 family home. ECF Nos. 40 at 2; 44 at 2. CPS determined that the intake 8 warranted an emergent response and that the dog should be considered dangerous.
9 ECF No. 40 at 2. To the extent that the IFF visit amounted to “state interference,” 10 the Court finds that the interference was justified because there was legitimate 11 concern for the safety of the Wagner children, as well as the safety of the Social 12 Workers conducting the visit due to a potentially dangerous animal. Accordingly, 13 the evidence shows that Ms. Wagner was not deprived of the right to familial 14 association under the First Amendment.

15 Additionally, the Social Workers and Sheriff’s Deputies did not deprive Ms.
16 Wagner of her right to familial association under the Fourteenth Amendment.
17 None of the Wagner children was removed from the home or taken into state 18 custody on January 29, 2016. ECF Nos. 38-2 at 9; 39 at 4; 43 at 4. Because “a 19 cause of action does not lie where the [defendant] is accused of seizing a child and 20 the parent has not ‘actually lost’ control over the child[ren],” Ms. Wagner’s claim

1 that Defendants deprived her of the right to familial association under the 2 Fourteenth Amendment also fails as a matter of law.

3 The Court concludes that the Defendants did not violate Ms. Wagner's right 4 to familial association under either the First Amendment or the Fourteenth 5 Amendment. Therefore, Defendants are entitled to summary judgment with 6 respect to Ms. Wagner's § 1983 claim premised on the right to familial association 7 and the alleged deprivation of that right without due process. See Dees, 960 F.3d 8 at 1153.

9 B. Fourth Amendment

10 1. Entry & Search of the Wagner Home

11 Ms. Wagner also brings suit through § 1983 alleging that Defendants violated 12 the Fourth Amendment by entering and searching the Wagner family home without 13 a warrant and absent exigent circumstances or consent. ECF No. 2 at 21.
14 Defendants argue that they are entitled to summary judgment because the evidence 15 establishes that they lawfully entered the Wagner family upon receiving consent 16 from Ms. Wagner's daughter, M.E.W.

17 Government officials cannot coerce entry into people's homes without a 18 search warrant or the applicability of an established exception to the warrant 19 requirement. Calabretta v. Floyd, 189 F.3d 808, 813 (9th Cir. 1999). The 20 prohibition against a warrantless entry does not apply to "situations in which 21 voluntary consent has been obtained either from the individual whose property was

1 searched or from a third party who possesses common authority over the premises.”

2 Illinois v. Rodriguez, 497 U.S. 177, 181 (1990) (internal citations omitted).

3 The Ferrier rule, which requires police officers to advise citizens of their right 4 to refuse entry, is limited to situations where police seek to conduct a search for 5 contraband or evidence of a crime without a search warrant. State v. Williams, 11 6 P.3d 714, 720 (Wash. 2000) (discussing State v. Ferrier, 960 P.2d 927 (Wash.
7 1998)); see also State v. Bustamante-Davila, 983 P.2d 590, 598 (Wash. 1999) (“The 8 police officers in this case did not proceed to Petitioner’s residence with the intent to 9 find contraband without obtaining a search warrant. They merely accompanied the 10 INS agent as backup”). To apply the Ferrier rule every time an officer enters a 11 home “would unnecessarily hamper a police officer’s ability to investigate 12 complaints and assist the citizenry.” Williams, 11 P.3d at 720.

13 Here, the Social Workers and Sheriff’s Deputies were seeking to confirm that 14 the Wagner children were safe. The Sheriff’s Deputies, specifically, were there to 15 provide standby assistance to the Social Workers due to a potentially dangerous dog 16 on the premises, and “were not conducting a law enforcement investigation.” ECF 17 Nos. 38-2 at 14, 50 at 2–3, 51 at 3. Once inside the home, the Sheriff Deputies 18 remained in the “living space” and did not interview M.E.W. ECF Nos. 38-2 at 16, 19 50 at 4. Accordingly, the interaction at issue was not a “knock and talk” 20 circumstance subject to the procedure set forth in Ferrier.

1 The Court turns to (1) whether M.E.W. had actual or apparent authority to 2 consent to the individual Defendants' entry and search of the home; (2) whether 3 M.E.W. exercised this authority and gave the individual Defendants consent; and (3) 4 whether Ms. Wagner's objection to the individual Defendants' entry and search 5 negates the alleged consent.

6 i. Actual or Apparent Authority

7 Ms. Wagner argues that “[a] fourteen year old can't give consent for a search 8 of her parent's home, her sibling's bedrooms, or her parent's bedroom.” ECF No.
9 55 at 12.

10 Consent by a third party to a search of common premises is effectual if the 11 third party has either actual authority or the apparent authority to authorize the 12 search. Rodriguez, 497 U.S. at 188. A party has actual authority to consent to a 13 search if either “the owner . . . has expressly authorized the third party to give 14 consent or if the third party has mutual use . . . and joint access or control” over the 15 premises. United States v. Fultz, 146 F.3d 1102, 1105 (9th Cir. 1998). “Common 16 authority” derives from “mutual use of the property by persons generally having 17 joint access or control for most purposes, so that it is reasonable to recognize that 18 any of the co-inhabitants has the right to permit the inspection in his own right” 19 United States v. Matlock, 415 U.S. at 171 n. 7 (1974). In determining whether a 20 third party has “common authority,” courts also consider whether others in the home 21

1 have assumed the risk that the third party might permit the search. United States v.
2 Matlock, 415 U.S. 164, 171 n. 7 (1974).

3 Here, the Court finds that M.E.W. had the actual authority to provide consent 4 to entry because her parents had left her in charge of the home and the younger 5 children residing there. See State v. Summers, 764 P.2d 250, 252 (Wash. App. 1998) 6 (finding that older sister was acting as head of the household while mother was out 7 of town and, consequently, had the same authority to consent to search of room as 8 the mother would have). In her mother and father's absence, M.E.W. was more than 9 just a babysitter, but rather acting as head of the household and had the same 10 authority to consent to a search of the Wagner home as her parents would have if 11 they were present. See id.; ECF No. 38-2 at 4, 9–10.

12 Furthermore, M.E.W. had shared use and joint access to the home and 13 different rooms therein. ECF No. 38-2 at 4. In addition to providing for the younger 14 children, M.E.W. was a resident of the home. ECF No. 1 at 13–14. Thus, she had a 15 "sufficient relationship to the premises sought to be inspected." Matlock, 415 U.S.
16 at 171 (1974). Even if M.E.W. did not have joint access to her parents' master 17 bedroom, the evidence shows that the welfare check was limited to the children's 18 sleeping arrangements. ECF Nos. 38-2 at 22, 39 at 3, 43 at 3, 43-1 at 3.

19 Although there is no evidence that Ms. Wagner expressly gave M.E.W.
20 authority to allow law enforcement and social workers into the house, there also is 21 no evidence supporting that M.E.W. was directed not to allow law enforcement and

1 social workers into the home. Rather, M.E.W. testified that, when she is home alone 2 with her younger siblings, she is put in charge of who is allowed to come into the 3 home. ECF No. 38-2 at 9. Thus, Ms. Wagner assumed the risk that M.E.W. would 4 allow others into the home by leaving her home alone and in charge. ECF No. 42 at 5 3; see also United States v. Lacey, 225 Fed. Appx. 478, 480 (9th Cir. 2007).

6 In the alternative, the Court finds that M.E.W. had apparent authority to 7 provide consent. “Under the apparent authority doctrine, a search is valid if the 8 government proves that the officers who conducted it reasonably believed that the 9 person from whom they obtained consent had the actual authority to grant that 10 consent.” United States v. Arreguin, 735 F.3d 1168, 1175 (9th Cir. 2013). Apparent 11 authority is measured by an objective standard of reasonableness. United States v.
12 Ruiz, 428 F.3d 877, 880 (9th Cir. 2005). In assessing whether an officer’s belief was 13 objectively reasonable, the court considers “the facts available to the officer at the 14 moment.” Illinois v. Rodriguez, 497 U.S. 177, 188 (1990).

15 Here, the individual Defendants determined through questioning M.E.W. that 16 M.E.W. had joint control over and was presently in charge of the Wagner home.
17 ECF Nos. 39 at 3; 43 at 3; 51 at 3. This belief that M.E.W. had authority over the 18 home was objectively reasonable, because she was the oldest person in the house 19 with younger children present. The surrounding circumstances would not cause a 20 reasonable person to doubt that M.E.W. was a resident of the home with joint access 21 to parts of the home. Contra United States v. Reid, 226 F.3d 1020 (9th Cir. 2000)

1 (finding it was unreasonable to presume occupant who answered the door resided in 2 apartment without further questioning); see also United States v. Clutter, 914 F.2d 3 775, 777 (6th Cir. 1990) (“There is every reason to suppose that mature family 4 members possess the authority to admit police to look about the family residence, 5 since in common experience family members have the run of the house.”).

6 In addition, the evidence supports that Ms. Wagner believed that M.E.W., at 14 7 years old, was of suitable age to look after her younger siblings as well as the home 8 itself. ECF Nos. 38-1 at 8; 38-2 at 4. In turn, it was reasonable for the individual 9 Defendants to believe that M.E.W., as the eldest present looking after younger 10 children, had the authority to authorize their entry into the home notwithstanding the 11 parents’ absence. See State v. Jones, 591 P.2d 796, 799 (Wash. App. 1979) (“Some 12 minors, simply by reason of their age or immaturity, may be incapable of consenting 13 to a police entry; others may be overawed and will permit entry despite strict 14 parental instructions or admonitions not to permit an entry. The record in this case 15 appears to be devoid of either impediment.”); see also United States v. Peden, No.
16 CR. 06-0300 WBS, 2007 WL 2318977 at *5 (E.D. Cal. Aug. 13, 2007) (upholding 17 search conducted pursuant to third-party consent by two teenagers, age 14 and 17, in 18 accord with decisions in the Sixth, Tenth, and Eleventh Circuits); Clutter, 914 F.2d 19 at 777 (upholding consent provided by 12 and 14 year-old children who were 20 routinely left in exclusive control of the house).

1 Finding that M.E.W. had actual authority, and alternatively apparent authority, 2 to provide consent, the Court turns to whether M.E.W. voluntarily exercised this 3 authority and provided the individual Defendants with consent to enter and search 4 the home.

5 ii. Consent

6 Whether a party's consent was voluntarily given is dependent on the totality 7 of the circumstances. Schneckloth v. Bustamonte, 412 U.S. 218, 226 (1973).
8 Evidence of a party's mere acquiescence or submission is insufficient to establish 9 that consent was freely given. United States v. Shaibu, 920 F.2d 1423, 1426 (9th 10 Cir. 1990).

11 The parties disagree about how the interaction at issue between M.E.W. and 12 the Defendants unfolded. Per Defendant Underwood's case notes entered 13 immediately after the IFF visit, the Social Workers "asked if they could [] make 14 sure that [the children] had some food to eat while their parents were gone.
15 [M.E.W.] allowed SWs and LE inside." ECF Nos. 43 at 4; 43-1 at 3. M.E.W.
16 showed them the food supply. ECF No. 38-2 at 8. "SWs then asked if they could 17 see w[h]ere everyone sleeps." ECF Nos. 43 at 4; 43-1 at 3. M.E.W. walked the 18 Social Workers down the hallway and showed them the bedrooms. ECF No. 38-2 at 19 8. The Sheriff's Computer Aided Dispatch ("CAD") report corroborates Defendant 20 Underwood's case notes: "Child allowed CPS to enter res[idence] to check on 21 siblings. Parents not home. CPS satisfied with report. No AEP. Assist only." ECF

1 No. 50 at 8. Deputy Benner's daily observations report, as the Field Trainer for 2 Deputy Turner, provides the following account:

3 After making a plan [Deputy Turner] went to the home and seemed 4 uncomfortable talking with the teenage female who answered the door.
5 [Deputy Turner was] able to ask enough questions to get into the home 6 to do the welfare check. [Deputy Turner] stood blocking CPS' ability 7 to get into the home and after telling [Deputy Turner] to move out of 8 their way [Defendants] were able to enter the home and perform the 9 check which yielded negative results for safety issues pertaining to the 10 children.

11 ECF No. 58-1 at 1.¹

12 However, Ms. Wagner claims that the Social Workers did not ask M.E.W.
13 for permission to come inside and that if M.E.W. provided consent, it was not 14 voluntary as she "felt stressed because there were five people [she] didn't know who 15 were already walking into the house." ECF No. 38-2 at 5–6. M.E.W. testified that 16 although she did not expressly tell the Social Workers and Sheriff's Deputies "no"

17 ¹ Defendants object to the documentary evidence provided by Ms. Wagner in 18 response to the Motions for Summary Judgment on the basis that they are not 19 properly authenticated. However, Deputy Mark Benner testified to acting as the 20 field training officer for Deputy Sam Turner on January 29, 2016. ECF No. 50 at 21 2. The report's content shows that the relevant observations are related to a call at 3625 E. Norwood Road, Case No. 160034667. These details match the CAD Incident Report provided by Defendants. ECF No. 50 at 6–7. Accordingly, there is sufficient indicia of reliability that the Field Trainer's Observations report proffered by Ms. Wagner is a true and authentic copy. Furthermore, the document was produced by Defendants in discovery. ECF No. 58 at 2.

1 with respect to entering the home, that she “advised them to come back when [her] 2 parents [were there]” because she was babysitting. ECF No. 38-2 at 17.

3 The Court finds that in light of the officials’ training and experience, in 4 addition to documentary evidence corroborating their accounts of the exchange, that 5 the Social Workers and Sheriff’s Deputies obtained consent from M.E.W. prior to 6 entering and briefly searching the Wagner family home. As noted above, Defendant 7 Underwood’s case notes and the Sheriff’s Deputies’ CAD report, made 8 contemporaneously with and entered immediately after the IFF visit, both show that 9 M.E.W. allowed the officials to enter. ECF Nos. 43-1 at 3; 50 at 8.

10 The record is also clear that the Individual Defendants knew based on their 11 training and experience that absent consent or exigent circumstances that a warrant 12 is required for entry. ECF Nos. 38 at 2; 43 at 2; 50 at 3; 51 at 4; 52 at 2. The scope 13 of the search was limited to food supply and sleeping arrangements, and there is no 14 evidence that any of the individual Defendants moved or damaged personal property 15 within the home. ECF No. 38-2 at 18. Furthermore, the Court finds persuasive 16 Defendants’ argument that if Deputy Turner’s interaction with M.E.W. had run afoul 17 of the Fourth Amendment, it likely would have been reported as an error in the field 18 training report “given the tenor of the field training officer’s scrutiny of his trainee 19 Deputy.” ECF No. 60 at 8.

20 Based on the record, the Court finds that M.E.W. consented to the individual 21 Defendants’ entry and subsequent search of the Wagner family home.

1 iii. Parental Objection

2 Ms. Wagner contends that this a case of “disputed consent” because the 3 individual Defendants knew or suspected that Ms. Wagner would not allow their 4 entry given the family’s history of non-cooperation with CPS and prior IFF visits.
5 ECF No. 55 at 17–18.

6 The Supreme Court in Georgia v. Randolph held that one co-tenant’s consent 7 may not prevail over another co-tenant’s objection where the latter is physically 8 present. 547 U.S. at 114–15. In so holding, the Court found that reasonableness 9 does not require “police to take affirmative steps to find a potentially objecting co-10 tenant before acting on the permission they had already received.” Randolph, 547 11 U.S. at 121–22. The Court later emphasized that its holding in Randolph was 12 limited to situations where the objecting occupant is present. Fernandez v.
13 California, 571 U.S. 292, 301 (2014), abrogating United States v. Murphy, 516 F.3d 14 117 (9th Cir. 2008).

15 Notwithstanding the family’s history of non-cooperation with IFF visits, Ms.
16 Wagner was not physically present to communicate her objection. ECF Nos. 38-1 at 17 3–4; 42 at 3. Thus, this is not a case of “disputed consent” and Randolph is 18 inapplicable. See Randolph, 547 U.S. at 126 (Breyer, J., concurring) (“The Court’s 19 opinion does not apply where the objector is not present ‘and object[ing]’”).

1 Accordingly, summary judgment is appropriate in favor of Defendants on Ms.
2 Wagner's § 1983 claim premised on a violation of the Fourth Amendment for 3 entering and searching the home.

4 2. Interview of M.E.W.

5 Ms. Wagner asserts that the individual Defendants violated the Fourth 6 Amendment because their interview of M.E.W. was an impermissible seizure of 7 M.E.W. absent parental consent. ECF No. 55 at 19.

8 Parents cannot assert that the seizure of their child violated their own Fourth 9 Amendment rights. See Mabe v. San Bernardino Cty, Dep't. of Pub. Social Servs., 10 237 F.3d 1101, 1111 (9th Cir. 2001) ("[Mother] has no standing to claim a violation 11 of [child's] Fourth Amendment rights."). In reply to the present motion, Ms.
12 Wagner asserts that the interview of M.E.W. violated "the rights of parents and 13 child." ECF No. 55 at 20. Moreover, the Defendants moved for summary judgment 14 on the merits of whether M.E.W. or the other Wagner children were "seized" in 15 violation of the Fourth Amendment; thus, the individual Defendants have not been 16 prejudiced by any "linguistic imprecision" on Ms. Wagner's part in drafting the 17 Complaint. Kirkpatrick v. Cty. of Washoe, 843 F.3d 784, 790 (9th Cir. 2016).

18 "The Fourth Amendment protects a child's right to be free from unreasonable 19 seizure by a social worker." See Kirkpatrick v. County. of Washoe, 843 F.3d 784, 20 790–91 (9th Cir. 2016) (en banc). A seizure occurs when, in light of all the 21 circumstances, a reasonable person would have believed that he or she was not free

1 to leave. Dees, 960 F.3d at 1154 (finding that the district court erred in finding that 2 child was seized as a matter of law where interview at school lasted for five minutes
3 and police officer was not present); see also Doe v. Heck, 327 F.3d 492, 509–10 (7th 4 Cir. 2003) (removal of child from classroom at private school to conduct twenty-5 minute interview as part of investigation of child abuse constituted a search and 6 seizure under the Fourth Amendment). “Whether a person is being compelled to 7 answer an official’s questions, rather than freely consenting to answer them, is a 8 question of fact.” Dees, 960 F.3d at 1154 (quoting United States v. Ryan, 548 F.2d 9 782, 789 (9th Cir. 1976)).

10 The interaction between M.E.W. and the individual Defendants differs from 11 Doe v. Heck, cited by Ms. Wagner in support of her argument that M.E.W. was 12 seized in violation of the Fourth Amendment, in two material ways. First, neither 13 M.E.W. nor the other Wagner children were removed from the home, separated from 14 each other, or otherwise prohibited from moving freely within the home during the 15 individual Defendants’ IFF visit. ECF Nos. 39 at 4; 43 at 4. Second, the brief 16 questioning by Defendants Garr and Underwood was limited to the parents’ 17 whereabouts and ensuring the safety of the children, rather than directed at the 18 merits of an underlying investigation. ECF No. 39 at 2; 43 at 2. The interview 19 continued only upon M.E.W.’s allowing the individual Defendants inside the home.
20 ECF No. 39 at 3; 43 at 3. The nature of the questioning by Defendants Garr and 21 Underwood did not seek to elicit intimate family details, but rather, only those

1 related to basic necessities for the children. ECF No. 39 at 3; 43 at 2. The IFF visit 2 also was not part of an ongoing law enforcement investigation. ECF No. 51 at 3.

3 Given the totality of the circumstances, the Court finds that M.E.W. was not 4 seized in violation of the Fourth Amendment based on the brief questioning 5 conducted by Defendants Garr and Underwood. Accordingly, summary judgment is 6 appropriate in favor of Defendants on Ms. Wagner's § 1983 claim premised on a 7 violation of M.E.W.'s right Fourth Amendment against unreasonable seizure.

8 Since the Court has found that Ms. Wagner's constitutional rights were not 9 violated, the Court need not address the second inquiry with respect to whether the 10 individual Defendants are entitled to qualified immunity.

11 II. County of Spokane's Liability under *Monell

12 Ms. Wagner claims that the County of Spokane is liable for the individual 13 Defendants' actions pursuant to Monell v. Dep't of Social Servs. of New York, 436 14 U.S. 658, 691–94 (1978). ECF No. 1 at 33. However, Monell violations are 15 "contingent on a violation of constitutional rights." Scott v. Henrich, 39 F.3d 912, 16 916 (9th Cir. 1994) (holding that "municipal defendants cannot be held liable 17 because no constitutional violation occurred"). Finding that the individual 18 Defendants did not violate Ms. Wagner's constitutional rights, the County of 19 Spokane cannot be held liable because no constitutional violations occurred.

20 Assuming arguendo that a constitutional violation occurred, which this Court 21 does not find, a municipality may not be held liable on a theory of respondeat

1 superior for the actions of their employees and agents. Id. Instead, the local 2 government's actions must have caused the constitutional violation. A section 1983 3 plaintiff may establish municipal liability in one of three ways:

- 4 1. The plaintiff may prove that a city employee committed the alleged 5 constitutional violation pursuant to a formal governmental policy or 6 a longstanding practice or custom which constitutes the standard 7 operating procedure of the local governmental entity; or 8
- 9 2. The plaintiff may establish that the individual who committed the 10 constitutional tort was an official with "final policy-making 11 authority" and that the challenged action itself thus constituted an 12 act of official governmental policy; or 13
- 14 3. The plaintiff may prove that an official with final policy-making 15 authority ratified a subordinate's unconstitutional decision or action 16 and the basis for it.

17 Gillette v. Delmore, 979 F.2d 1342, 1346–47 (9th Cir. 1992).

18 First, there is no evidence that the alleged constitutional violations occurred 19 pursuant to a County policy or longstanding practice. See Mabe, 237 F.3d at 1111; 20 see also Trevino v. Gates, 99 F.3d 911, 918 (9th Cir. 1996) ("Liability . . . must be 21 founded upon practices of sufficient duration, frequency and consistency that the conduct has become a traditional method of carrying out policy.").

22 Ms. Wagner argues that the County is liable due to gaps in existing policies 23 regarding welfare checks. ECF No. 54 at 19. See Long v. County of Los Angeles, 24 442 F.3d 1178, 1189 (9th Cir. 2006) ("This court consistently has found that a 25 county's lack of affirmative policies or procedures to guide employees can amount 26 to deliberate indifference, even when the county has other general policies in

1 place.”). However, the evidence shows that adequate policies are in place and do not 2 amount to “deliberate indifference.”

3 Defendants Garr and Underwood testified that it is standard practice when 4 conducting an IFF to check on food availability and to ensure adequate sleeping 5 arrangements for the children, provided they obtain consent to enter the home. ECF 6 Nos. 39 at 2–3; 42 at 2–3. This policy, predicated on receiving consent or the 7 existence of other exigent circumstances prior to entry, does not amount to deliberate 8 indifference.

9 Spokane County Sheriff’s Office Training Bulletin No. 330, governing 10 Protective Custody and CPS, provides that “CPS might call for deputies to 11 accompany them when interviewing people they believe are dangerous or might 12 pose a threat to the clients or CPS workers. Deputies act in a ‘back up’ role unless 13 they see or develop probable cause for a crime.” ECF No. 58-5 at 2. Spokane 14 County Sheriff’s Office Training Bulletin 418, governing Animal Control, provides 15 that “Deputies may be dispatched to animal related calls and should take appropriate 16 actions to control the situation or until the arrival of Spokane County Regional 17 Animal Protection Services (SCRAPS).” ECF No. 58-8. Accordingly, there are 18 adequate policies in place to address situations involving welfare checks.

19 Second, there is no evidence suggesting that the individual Defendants have 20 “final policymaking authority” to render their actions an act of official governmental 21 policy. Defendants Garr and Underwood receive directives with respect to emergent

1 IFF visits from a CPS Supervisor. ECF No. 42 at 3. 42-1. As evidenced by Spokane 2 County Sheriff's Office Training Bulletins Nos. 330 and 418, these policies are 3 issued by elected Spokane County Sheriff Ozzie D. Knezovich. ECF Nos. 58-5; 58-4 5; see also City of St. Louis v. Praprotnik, 485 U.S. 112, 127 (“When an official’s 5 discretionary decisions are constrained by policies not of that official’s making, 6 those policies, rather than the subordinate’s departures from them, are the act of the 7 municipality.”). Accordingly, the evidence does not support a conclusion that the 8 individual Defendants are “final policymakers.”

9 Finally, there is no argument or evidence before the Court which suggests that 10 an official with “final policy-making authority” ratified the individual Defendants’ 11 decision to enter the Wagner family home.

12 To the extent that Ms. Wagner’s Monell claim is based on a lack of training, a 13 single unconstitutional incident, without more, does not establish that a municipality 14 failed to provide proper training. Kirkpatrick v. Cty. of Washoe, 843 F.3d 784, 796 15 (9th Cir. 2016) (citing City of Oklahoma City v. Tuttle, 471 U.S. 808, 821–24, 105 16 S.Ct. 2427, 85 L.Ed.2d 791 (1985)).

17 Rather, the record indicates that the individual Defendants received proper 18 training on the contours of the Fourth Amendment. Defendants Garr and 19 Underwood testified that they participated in the “Core Training” required for CPS 20 social workers which covers policies and realistic job training, including when it is 21 acceptable and lawful to enter a home. ECF Nos. 39 at 2; 43 at 2. Ms. Wagner

1 concedes that the Deputies received training regarding when it is lawful to enter a 2 home. ECF No. 54 at 11. The Deputies also attest to this training. ECF Nos. 39 at 3 2; 43 at 2. Based on their training and experience, Deputies Benner, Turner, and 4 Moman assert that they know a warrant is required to enter a residence unless they 5 obtain consent or there are exigent circumstances. ECF Nos. 50 at 3; 51 at 3–4; 52 6 at 2. Thus, there is no evidence imputing liability to the County based on an alleged 7 lack of training.

8 Therefore, even if there was a constitutional violation, the County of Spokane 9 would not be liable pursuant to Monell.

10 Accordingly, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED:

11 1. Defendants Garr and Underwood's Motion for and Memorandum in 12 Support of Summary Judgment, ECF No. 35, is GRANTED.

13 2. Defendants County of Spokane, Moman, Turner, and Benner's Motion 14 and Memorandum of Authorities Supporting Summary Judgment Dismissal, 15 ECF No. 47, is GRANTED.

16 3. Judgment shall be entered for all Defendants on all claims.

17 4. Any remaining, pending motions are DENIED AS MOOT, and any 18 hearing dates are STRICKEN.
